passionate advocate for community safety and policing issues.

David was seeking an opportunity to apply his skills and experience in support of a community organization, and was attracted by the prospect of working with the Board of Directors, staff and volunteers of Epilepsy Ottawa-Carleton:

“As I began to learn more about epilepsy and seizure disorders, I was struck by the profound physical, psychological and social consequences that these disorders can have on people of all ages and their families. I am honoured to have the opportunity to work together with the EOC team to raise awareness about seizure disorders, generate financial support for the important programs and activities offered by Epilepsy Ottawa-Carleton, and advance EOC’s strategic goals.”

An avid golfer and recreational skier, David and his partner Tammy reside in Orleans and enjoy spending time with their blended family of five young people.
